Dear Adrian,

I just wanted to say many thanks for helping us source our new Digital Marketing Apprentice.

We have used various other Apprenticeship providers and organisations in the past with minimal success so I was not really looking forward to the process when we made the decision to look for a new Apprentice.

However, from our very first meeting I was extremely confident that you could help me in our search for the right candidate. You took an interest in our business, understood the type of candidate we wanted and also took on board some of the issues we had experienced previously.

The great thing about using you was that you operate differently to traditional providers.....whereas others simply send you a batch of applications and CVs to plough through and I pick the ones that I think are worth seeing, you took all that hassle away by screening all the candidates and only putting forward those that suited the profile and specification.

I am looking forward to Courtenay starting next week and look forward to using you again soon.

Thanks,

Chris Elliott
